

Destiny of a nation is shaped in its classrooms

"The youth of today are leaders of tomorrow."
— Nelson Mandela.

Since time immemorial, education has formed the basis of shaping future generation. Whether it was focused on shashtra (Vedas) or shashtra (weapon) vidyaa to classroom education of today. A holistic and value-based education is a key to democracy, economic progress, social upliftment and empowerment of an individual. But presently, rising suicide rates, drop-outs during high school, skewed teacher-student ratio, rote learning and deplorable school infrastructure presents a grim picture.
